

Bill Meridian (billmeridian.com)

February 18, 2014

REPEATED HITS

CISCO

CSCO is a good example of profiting from repeated hits, also called 'banging.' The last word is a dreadful term derived from the construction industry. It means that one returns to the stock several times because the chart remains afflicted from one reporting period to the next. CSCO reports every 3 months beginning in February. The graph below shows one big rally in May of 2013 followed by 3 gaps down in the next 3 reporting periods. In this case, Uranus was 45 degrees to the Sun as was Pluto for most of the year. On February 13, 2014, CSCO fell by 4.6% on the opening on their EPS release. I estimate that the stock would have fallen by about 8% given the transits below, but there were positive solar arcs hits that offset the bearish transits. The short sale was closed in the first hour of trading. In the chart:

- Pluto was 45 to the natal Sun on the 12th
- Uranus was contraparallel the progressed Sun on the 10th
- Transiting Saturn was only minutes from an exact 45-degree angle to natal Uranus.

IBM and Synchronicity

Below, we see the daily price graph for IBM, which reports one month prior to CSCO. Compare this graph to the CSCO graph and note the similarities. Its natal Sun is only 2 degrees from that of CSCO. It, too, was being hit by the transiting Uranus-Pluto square. Thus, by seeing that this transiting square was indeed causing price drops on the earnings announcements, one can scan the entire database at AstroApp.com to find other stocks that would have the Sun or the MC at that degree. One can develop a list of stocks to short simply by knowing how one stock was influenced. And, there may be 4 instances annually to profit for each stock that meets the profile.

Inner Wheel
CISCO SYSTEMS-CSCO
Natal Chart
Feb 16 1990, Fri
9:30 am EST +5:00
NYC
40°N45' 073°W57"
Geocentric
Tropical
Koch
True Node

Outer Wheel
IBM-IBM
Natal Chart
Feb 14 1924, Thu
10:00 am EST +5:00
NYC
40°N45' 073°W57"
Geocentric
Tropical
Koch
True Node

I must add that one must be very careful when Uranus is 45 to the Sun. This leads to a big move, but the direction is caused by the aspects to the rest of the chart. Strong Jupiter aspecting the rest of the chart will send the stock up while Saturn will send it down.

Visit the website at AstroApp.com for a database of over 2000 stock horoscopes plus the necessary screening tools. Access is available for a subscription fee. Watch this site grow!

*Disclaimer: The methods utilized have proven profitable in the past but no guarantee can be made of future performance nor is any liability accepted.
See the website at billmeridian.com.*